Dover Bombardment Increases Doubt on Plans For Invasion

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, July 31.—A sudden concentration of German air attack on Dover stirred worldwide conjecture that Britain's hour of trial had come, with Dover as a prospective bridgehead for invasion of the Tight Little Isle. Yet circumstances of the Nazi bombardment of that port, as officially reported in Berlin, sharply conflict with that impression.

PAN-AMERICA MEET CLOSES AS SUCCESS

Monroe Doctrine Bolstered Despite Reservations Of Some Nations

HAVANA, July 31.—The historic conference of Havana, which opened the Monroe Doctrine with new bars against war dangers from Europe—despite the reservations of Argentina and several other of the 21 American republics—ended last night in a flurry of cheers, speech-making and document-signing.

The Argentine delegate Leopoldo Melo argued against the "conjectural hypothesis" of need of action concerning European colonies in the western hemisphere, contending that setting up machinery to occupy them was like calling in a specialist for a disease not yet suffered.

NEEDS RATIFICATION

He made the reservation that the convention creating such machinery would require Argentine congressional ratification before participation. Mexico, Chile, Bolivia, Colombia, Venezuela, Peru and Uruguay also made 11th-hour reservations.

A program to which the ministers attached their names consists of:

1.—A so-called "Act of Havana," which definitely declares all the American Republics to be opposed to change or menace of change in the status of European possessions in the western hemisphere.

2.—Inter-American co-operation to combat the "fifth column" or other infiltrating subversive elements which may exist or seek to exist in the western hemisphere.

3.—Mutual effort to maintain economic in the "Act of Havana," and the accompanying convention, defining the methods of protecting economic interests, were given over almost entirely in the hands of the United States.

To the very last, Argentina hesitated in making definite conference commitments which would give any of the American republics the right to make protectively into European colonies in the western hemisphere.

BRITISH SHIP SINKINGS ARE BELOW AVERAGE

LONDON, July 31.—British merchant marine losses for the week ending July 21 were 37,377 tons, the admiralty announced Tuesday.

Allied losses of 2,068 tons and neutral losses of 10,192 tons were reported for the same period, bringing the aggregate losses to 49,637 tons.

The Admiralty said the total was slightly below the weekly average for the 46 weeks of the war and less than a fourth of the highest weekly figure.

Eleven British ships, one allied vessel and six neutrals were included among the losses listed for the week ending July 21.

The Admiralty announced that German losses up to July 28 amounted to approximately 508,000 tons and Italian losses to 254,000 tons, or a grand total of about 1,162,000 tons of enemy shipping sunk since the start of the war.

In addition some 22,000 tons of formerly neutral vessels now under Axis control have been destroyed, the Admiralty said.

Treachery Act Is Passed By Senate

OTTAWA, July 31.—The Treachery Act providing the death penalty for certain acts against the public or assisting the enemy, was passed by the senate yesterday.

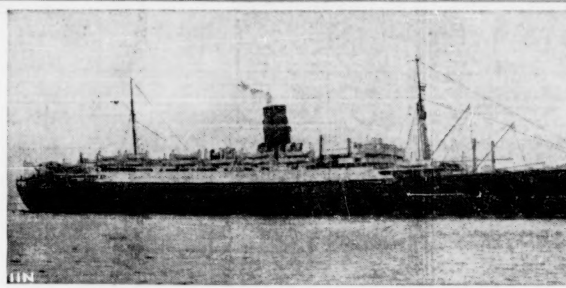

READING GLASSES

During childhood and youth, a single pair of glasses ordinarily suffice for both far and near vision. Later in life additional help is required to focus the eyes for near work.

Eyes otherwise perfect are almost certain to require help for reading or other near work after reaching the age of forty.

Having to hold a book or paper away in order to read clearly indicates this condition and your optometrist should be consulted.

Luxury Liner Sunk With More Than 2,000 Dead

Word from London discloses the sinking of the luxury liner, S.S. Lancastria, once a popular trans-Atlantic vessel of the Cunard White Star line, with a death toll of more than 2,000 crew members and refugees. The ship was sunk by German bombs off St. Nazaire, France.

HOUSE PASSES BILL TO AMEND P.F.A. MEASURE

Considerable Criticism Is Made By Opposition Members

OTTAWA, July 31.—After more than three hours of criticism and suggestions from western opposition members, the House of Commons last night passed the bill to amend the Prairie Farm Assistance Act.

From Conservatives, Co-operative Commonwealth Federation and New Democracy members came charges of political use being made of this act which was passed last year in bringing relief to those produced in western Canada who suffered crop losses through drought or other causes.

ALL FAVOR CONTINUATION

While there was much criticism of the measure and of its administration all those who spoke favored its continuation. For the crop year ending July 31, 1940, western farmers were assisted to the extent of $9,763,000.

The amendments passed in the Commons last night placed in the hands of a board of review most of the functions heretofore exercised by the agriculture minister. They require that application must come from a provincial government before assistance to any farm area in a province is granted, and they alter the basis upon which it is decided whether or not crop failure is sufficient to grant an acreage bonus.

It is now provided that before Saskatchewan can qualify for crop failure assistance the average yield of wheat, as a result of anything other than late spring rains, must be at least 15 bushels per acre or less in each of not less than 171 townships. For Alberta the figure is 90 and for Manitoba 84 townships.

SPONSORED BY MINISTER

These quotas in the original bill were 125 for Saskatchewan and 100 for Manitoba.

The bill was sponsored by Hon. J. G. Gardiner, minister of the new department of national services, who is still conducting the position of agriculture minister.

Much of the difficulty in the first year of administration of the practice farm assistance act was due to the fact many field men were too much concerned with politics, T. C. Douglas (C.C.F. Wearybun) claimed.

The effect of such a provision would be to impose upon His Majesty in the right of the province, the right of a shareholder, namely, to have calls of money made pursuant to the provisions of the act.

The crown would be subject, by section 39 to be sued out, to the extent of the rights of His Majesty that he can only be sued by his own consent. It would seem doubtful that parliament could deprive the provincial crown of this right.

Things are the provisions for the forfeiture of stock which means depriving His Majesty of his property. His Majesty would also be liable to a fine or penalty in the sum equal to 10 per cent of the amount of the stock.

Finally, reference should be made to section 125 of The Bank Act which provides additional liability on the shareholder in the event of the insolvency of the bank.

DUTIES, POWERS INVESTED

In addition to such obligations, duties and powers are vested in the shareholders of a bank. By section 18 for example powers to make by-laws would be exercisable doubtless by the provincial government.

The provincial treasurer would be the registered holder of the shares, holding the same on behalf and for the use of the province.

MAN SENTENCED IN KIDNAPPING, ROBBERY CHARGE

SASKATOON, July 31.—Frederick Henry Burich, 23, of Aylmer, Ont., was sentenced yesterday to two years less one day in Prince Albert jail after he pleaded guilty to charges of kidnapping and robbing Gustavus MacKay, 60, of Beaman, and stealing MacKay's car.

Magistrate J. T. Leper in Royal Canadian Mounted Police court here, sentenced Burich to two years less one day for kidnapping, to one year, concurrent, for robbery and to one year, also concurrent, for the automobile theft.

Magistrate Leper said he dealt leniently with the accused because of his youth, his previous good record, and because evidence showed Burich's accomplice, who is still at liberty, had planned the crime, and used the younger man as a tool.

SENATE GIVES INSURANCE BILL SECOND READING

OTTAWA, July 31.—The Senate last yesterday gave second reading, without division, to the Unemployment Insurance Bill and referred it to the Senate Committee on Banking and Commerce.

The action of the Senate followed the speech by Conservative leader Meighen in which he said the bill should go to the committee for thorough consideration.

He urged the Senate to give it all the time that was necessary, regardless of how late the weather was.

Debate on the bill opened in the Red Chamber, Tuesday afternoon, concerned with the bill, T. C. Douglas (C.C.F. Wearybun) claimed.

"If the by-laws are to be made or approved by the Lieutenant Governor-in-Council then the same objections would apply to the provisions as have been advanced in connection with sections 2 and 3 of the bill."

Sections 2 and 3 of the bill provide that members of the executive council shall be directors of the bank, and that the Lieutenant Governor-in-Council may appoint the president and vice president of the bank.

"That parliament can legislate as to affect the provincial government goes without saying."

"For example, parliament has successfully provided for the proportion of provincial crown lands for the purpose of a Dominion railway and for the payment of customs duties in the case of goods imported by a province."

IMPOSED DUTIES

In all such cases, however, the legislation imposed duties or obligations upon the provincial government which engaged in its normal and constitutional activities.

"The provincial crown normally and constitutionally may hold crown lands and may import goods for sale or consumption."

In these normal and constitutional activities the provincial crown is bound and affected by competent Dominion legislation in relation to Dominion railways and customs duties.

READILY DIFFERENTIATED

"But section five of the bill is readily differentiated since it imports a first of all to draw the provincial government out of the normal and constitutional sphere of banking and thereupon to impose these obligations, duties and powers upon the provincial government."

"It is my opinion that section 5 is ultra vires."

NAZI LAUNCH PROPAGANDA IN FULL BLAST

Conquered Alsace Being Quickly Transformed Into German State

By EDWIN SHANKE
Associated Press Staff Writer
STRASBOURG, German-Occupied France, July 31.—Germany already has advanced her customs border and stream of wackies from the Rhine river, deep into occupied Alsace near the peacetime great war German-French boundary and towns in the old disputed territory now feature "Adolf Hitler Street" and "Hermann Goering Place."

Freshly painted customs barriers along the border of the Grand Fontaine, high in the Vosges mountains. Every automobile travelling along the border is the main route from Germany to Nancy is subject to Nazi examination.

Former French names and words are being painted out and removed from store fronts. French street names are being changed to German.

DEPUTES RELEASED

The Germans claimed the 14 deputies had just been released from French prisons.

Former French names and words are being painted out and removed from store fronts. French street names are being changed to German.

The return of refugees to Alsace and Lorraine is slow, however. For example, Strasbourg, the Alsatian capital, still is almost a deserted city. Of the 300,000 population evacuated by the French last September when the war began, German officers said about 20,000 had returned.

Most stores are still shuttered, but the Nazis are said to be making a special effort to get business going. Captured Alsatian soldiers are being released rapidly to help get the region functioning normally.

At least 40,000 French Jews who formerly lived in the territory "were expected."

French prisoners are busy removing mines and other traps in the heart of the Maginot line defenses. Many armaments and byways still are mined, they said.

Tutor Interned

LONDON, July 31.—Gustavo Loria, Italian singing and education master who helped coach the King in singing, was interned on the Isle of Man, the Daily Mail said Tuesday.

Adrian-born publisher running the ministry for aircraft production, appealed for aluminium to help the airplane industry.

The common danger has brought a new unity of the people. It has spurred them to vigorous action. Apathy is a fractional thing compared to the pre-Charlton days when preoccupation was in the saddle and "leave it until tomorrow" was a national motto.

Workers in the industries where a push was sorely needed, the plastics and aircraft working, for example, responded by sacrificing something very dear to the Old Country but very dear to the workers. They came forward in droves voluntarily to work seven days a week. Many are on a 12-hour day.

"Work like hell—and it's hell for the soldier is the slogan in one shell factory."

HELPS HER BOY FRIEND

Take the case of Irene Clark, 17-year-old Woolwich girl. Because of her boy, she had to get special permission to work a seven-day week in the plant where she helps make armaments. "My boy friend is away in the army," she explained, "so I'm giving up Sunday to help him."

There are thousands of the same heart.

And while they work they whistle, for their confidence is high. They know the narrow confines of the British Isles holds the greatest armed force in all history. They need no reassurance as to the navy. The youngest of the services, the air force, has shown again and again that it is master of Nazi fliers and Nazi airplanes man for man and machine for machine.

They have confidence in the Churchill government. They know the government does not allow the hand or the head of such ministers as Chamberlain and Herr Hitler to Alexander, Stalin and others.

No concert of grumbling followed the encroachments on personal liberty which grew from government steps to prepare the seas against invasion or sea attack. The "Fascists" followed parliament's surrender to the executive of the fullest powers of control over persons and property.

BUILD PEOPLE'S NAVY

It was the fishermen who went to Whitehall and demanded arms for their little boats. They built a people's navy. It was unknown seamen, risking their lives that the sea-borne conquerors of Britain might live, who defeated the Nazi first menace of the magnitude of the war.

Today, it was back clerks of Edinburgh who gave German raiders the first taste of British skill in the sky, who made the rubber boots who snatched life for their comrades in the Dunkerque death trap.

It was the housewife, multiplied by thousands, who responded when Lord Beaverbrook, the Can-

Scientists Aid Britain To Devise Wartime Diets As Food-Saving Measure

By PAT ENSHIER
Canadian Press Staff Writer
LONDON, July 31.—Britain has enlisted the aid of scientists to devise new wartime diets. Loss of European sources of food supply and rationing of remaining food wrought drastic changes in the eating habits of the people of the United Kingdom.

Old favorites like roast beef and steak and kidney pudding are disappearing from the dinner table. The traditional fare of bacon and eggs may vanish soon too. Bacon already is rationed and continental supplies of eggs no longer are available.

SEER BALANCED FAIR

Diet experts believe Britain will enjoy better health as a result of wartime restrictions, are devoted to the cause of rationing. The fare designed to supply adequate calories and vitamins.

The United Kingdom has never been so well-served by foodstuffs but two well-known scientists have worked out almost entirely home-produced diets.

One of them, Prof. J. C. Drummond, scientific adviser to the food ministry, is quoted as saying: "Without eggs or meat, there is a solid time since each of lettuce, onions and tomatoes, one of carrots, 3 1/2 ounces of butter, 1 1/2 ounces of cheese, three ounces of wholemeal bread, 2-3 pint of milk, 2 1/2 ounces of herring, five ounces of baked potatoes."

ORR SUGGESTS DIET

Sir John Boyd Orr, who directs the Rowlett Research Institute at Aberdeen, suggests a diet which also avoids eggs and meat. His proposed wartime meals:

"Thirdly of a pint of milk, six ounces of vegetables, 14-18 ounces of potatoes, two ounces of meat, 1 1/2 ounces of bread, 1 1/2 ounces of fat, 2 1/2 ounces of sugar, 1 1/2 ounces of fruit."

"Milk is by far the most important of our protective foods. Milk, cheese and fish are recommended as substitutes for meat."

Prof. V. H. Mulligan, diet expert and one-time lecturer in physiology at McGill and Toronto universities, said:

"Some trees known as softwoods produce harder lumber than some hardwood trees."

I.O.D.E. Will Open Camp Thursday

Forty excited, happy girls will leave Edmonton on Thursday for a gala two week summer vacation at Nassau, B. I., a holiday made possible by the efforts of members of the Municipal chapter I.O.D.E. in Edmonton. The annual I.O.D.E. camp which each year entertains between eighty and ninety girls, is getting under way on Thursday and Mrs. W. Milroy, convenor of the club and family association, have announced that all plans are in readiness to give these girls a lovely holiday.

During the first week of the camp, the girls will be given lessons in swimming and instruction in games and handicrafts during their stay.

Red Cross Requests Winter Clothing For Canadian Soldiers

With many summer days yet to come, the Canadian Red Cross Society is already thinking in terms of fall and winter, and women all over the country are urged to knit gloves, mittens, caps and helmets for men of all branches of the active service.

"These articles will be needed by the thousands," Mrs. Wallace Campbell, national chairman of the Women's War Committee, said yesterday. "In these days of warm weather, some might find it too hard to concentrate on the need for winter gloves and helmets, but the Canadian Red Cross must continue its policy of being prepared and fully equipped to meet any emergency."

"We must, of course, keep current with the year-round demand for socks," Mrs. Campbell said, "but gloves and helmets must also claim a great deal of effort. Since war has been declared, we have been able to meet every emergency at home and overseas for the winter clothing that the women of Canada have been making the girls we need most rather than the things they themselves like to make."

Under the C.A.A.'s experimental advanced college program, the colleges which last year inaugurated the civilian training courses, will this year give instructions in stick control, tandem-swinging places in the 120-horsepower class.

Visitors To Jasper Become Big Game Hunters—Are Armed With Motion Picture Cameras

HUNTERS abound in Jasper Park. But they are holidaymakers armed with cameras. Everywhere you will find enthusiastic "hunters" with movie and still cameras taking photos of the game animals in their natural haunts. Bears are by far the most popular subjects and they "model" properly better than many others. They like the attention, and on the vivid staff of the family Jasper Golf course they are black and brown coats make a sharp contrast as they tumble around and charge at the cameras.

The deer are not quite so easily frightened, but on Monday afternoon two, with their antlers in velvet, trotted near the Canyon road and were the subject of a splendid shot of the graceful animal, eating from the hands of a hunter. The deer visitors, however, can only be snapped early in the morning and in fact the hours up to ten a.m. are most better for animal pictures. Camera hunting has many many devotees this season.

Kennedy, who is planning to visit Jasper Park over the week holiday weekend will find plenty to do in addition to visiting the scenic attractions of the park. On Sunday morning the annual Cavell memorial race will be held in St. Mary's and St. George's church, and will attract many holidaymakers and residents alike.

On Monday the rodeo, with riders in 220 riding high boots, will be a highlight of the week. The rodeo will be a highlight of the week.

U. Of A. Grads Are Married In Calgary

Try Banana Bran Nut Bread With Your Dinner

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX

The fuel cost on your food budget can be cut if you bake two or more different foods in the oven at the same time. The following recipes, cooked in units of the new 5-ounce oven set made of hard sheet aluminum, bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) for one hour, all at the same time.

BUTTERED GREEN BEANS

(Serves 4 to 6)

Three and one-half cups green beans, cut into 1-inch pieces, 1/4 cup water, 1 teaspoon salt, 3 tablespoons butter.

Place green beans in square pan of five-ounce oven set, add water and salt, cover. Bake for one hour. Serve with melted butter.

BANANA BRAN NUT BREAD

One egg, well beaten; 1 1/2 cups mashed bananas (4 to 5 bananas); 1/4 cup melted shortening, 1 cup bran, 1 1/2 cups sifted all-purpose flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon soda, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 cup broken nut meal.

Combine egg, bananas, shortening and bran. Sift together flour, baking powder, soda, salt and sugar, add nut meal and mix well. Add to the banana mixture, mixing only enough to dampen all flour. Pour into well-greased one long loaf pan of the sheet aluminum five-piece oven set. Bake for one hour.

PEACH BROWN BETTY

(Serves 4 to 6)

One-half cup melted butter, 4 cups pitted fresh cranberries, 4 cups sliced fresh peaches, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/2 teaspoon lemon juice.

Combine butter and bread crumbs. Mix peaches, sugar, nutmeg, salt, cinnamon and lemon juice together. Place a layer of bread crumbs in bottom of greased oblong loaf pan, then the peaches and another layer of bread crumbs. Sprinkle with sugar. Bake for one hour.

These Tennis Pointers Will Help Up Your Game

When your tennis is the sort that draws amused smiles—how dazzling the good player seems! What is her secret?

She plays an even steady game with no weaknesses for her opponent to take advantage of. And with right instruction you can spruce up your entire game, too.

No more ludicrous attempts to take backhand shots on your forehead because your backhand is a weak spot. Stand facing the line and bring it down in your backhand this way.

Start with head of racket even with your waist. Swing up and back as in diagram, pivoting as you do so to get the necessary power for your stroke, and bring racket down and forward to meet the ball a little ahead of your right shoulder.

As you hit the ball, roll your wrist so the racket faces gradually downward. This puts the top of the ball and brings it down in your opponent's court.

You can as easily improve other important strokes, be it demand as a tennis partner. In our 32-page booklet, George J. Gutter, a noted teacher, explains the serve, forehand, backhand, lob, volley, cut strokes. Gives expert advice on footwork, tactics, practicing.

Send the coin for your copy of "Developing Correct Tennis Form to Home Service," The Edmonton Bulletin, Edmonton, Alberta. Be sure to write plainly your Name, Address, and the Name of booklet.

Points For Parents

This Not This

Mother: "This is the way we cut the flowers. Would you like to help me?"

Mother: "Quit putting the beads off those flowers. Stop it, I say!"

Son: "No!"

Dorothy Dix Says:

One of the chronic grievances of mothers is that their daughters do not confide in them. "Dorothy," they will say, "we are so more intimate terms with the girls who sell us our stockings than we are with our own Mother and Mother and Sister. They never tell us a thing about themselves if they can help it." We would like to confide in our mothers, but they won't let us, say the girls. "We know we are young and ignorant and inexperienced, and there are many things that we are uncertain about that we would like to talk over with our mothers if we could do it freely, without bringing down a lot of penitence on our heads and turning them with food for moral lectures for the next year."

Then it is hard to tell Mother things just because the relationship makes a harder barrier. Mother has always put herself up on a pinnacle and she doesn't want to let her girls see her pedestal to her children's level.

Another reason we get a certain amount of Mother is because she tries to force our confidence. She always probing and prying into our affairs.

"She puts us through the third degree about everything we do, everything we do, everybody we see, and just isn't human nature not to resent this."

"We come home for instance from some date where we have had a good time, and if Mother comes in, she is sure to ask us only telling her all about it, but when she begins putting the screws on us, she makes an account for every minute of the time, and makes our comments on everything we tell, we just shut up."

"Another reason why we don't confide in Mother is because she is often a bit, she tells everything she knows to her friends."

"And if one of us tells our mother a party that we went to, she turned a little rough, or about a boy who has had a drink too many, and she goes on and on about the theme song 'What Are the Young People Doing?' wherever our elders are gathered together."

"Our mothers are always complaining that we never tell them anything about our dates, and that they scarcely know who the boys we go with. Well, we don't have much encouragement along that line because the favorite indoor sport of our families is picking the boy friend in pieces."

"But, oh, how we would like to confide in Mother if only she would let us." DOROTHY DIX.

Widow Of Lord Byng Of Vimy Reaches Canada

AN EASTERN CANADIAN PORT.

July 31—Lady Byng, widow of Lord Byng of Vimy, former governor general of Canada and commander of the Canadian Forces in the First Great War arrived here Tuesday with other have-seeking travellers from Great Britain.

Leading one of the ship's rail she waved to Col. Willis O'Connor who was standing on the pier and exclaimed, "It is grand to see back Lady Byng will go to Ottawa as the guest of Col. O'Connor who was aide-camp to the late Lord Byng."

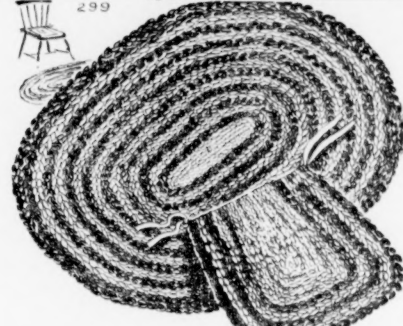

"My own home on the east coast became untenable," she told reporters, "and in case of any trouble I don't want old people to come out here."

Your Baby And Mine

Parents want their children to grow up with courage for the myriad conflicts of life. Fears, which seem to make them timid and miserable disturb them. They want to relieve them of such emotional burdens.

The following is a rather unusual fear. I am hoping that any parent who has had a similar experience will write, telling me what she did to help the child. Helpful letters will be printed in a future column.

My five-year-old has been making our life miserable. She is afraid of anything which is imperfect. Anyone with a leg or a finger missing, or a false tooth, or anyone small, like a nidget, causes her real trouble.

FALSE TEETH

My father acquired a set of false teeth at Christmas time and since then she does not want to see him. It was like her to be so sure she makes a terrible face. We have tried to make her understand that they will not hurt her, and people want to look at her and finally my husband and I had to bring her home.

A couple came to visit us and the man had his teeth out. She would not come in the room.

"She is very bright, plays nicely with other children, has everything a child could wish for, fine, is intelligent, and very kind. There is nothing I can do to help her."

There are a few things which suggest themselves. One is that your fear she has gained a noticeable, nervous habit. If you can find a child who is afraid of everything imperfect. You have talked, argued, explained and even punished. All results which have helped her own behavior for you, it will have a lot less effect.

I shall welcome other suggestions from parents who have worked out different ways of dealing with this problem.

To obtain a copy of our leaflet, "Counselling Parents of Children," send your request with a three-cent stamp, addressed to the editor of the Bulletin, The Edmonton Bulletin, Edmonton, Alberta.

It's practically front-page news when an established actress quits the movies for the radio so she can eat her fill. Our heroine is Gale Page, shown making up for all the calories she relinquished for the sake of the camera.

It is reliably reported that Gale Page is deserting the movies for radio, the reason being that in radio a girl can eat without losing her glamor. So, apparently, that precious thing called glamor is supposed to go with a good figure!

That's very interesting. Miss Page was the mysterious movie actress who, two years back, reduced from 165 pounds to 130, and slumped down from a size 20 to a sash-like 14. Her name was left out of my account of her slimming program—not that she minded in the least, but the publicity department did. They had a competent actress and a rising young star in their hands and it didn't sound so good to them to have her reducing—just like any other mortal. Evidence.

At the time, Miss Page told me she was convinced that what it takes to slim down is a combination of concentration, application and ambition. And she seemed to have plenty of what it takes.

SLIMMING DOWN Her about-face would almost lead you to believe that it is harder to keep slim than to get slim. That may be true for a movie star who must hold her weight down to 10 per cent below normal in order to photograph beautifully alone. Either that, or she must have such excellent muscles that she looks streamlined at normal weight. That's the way any number of Hollywood stars solve their weight problem. Could it be Miss Page didn't keep on with her exercise?

But the average person doesn't have to trim down as fast as the film players, and she finds it far easier to keep slim than to get slim. To reduce, one must eat so little food that stored fat is used for energy. But to keep the weight at normal, it is necessary only to avoid gaining more food than is required. It's as easy as that!

If you want to keep slim without a struggle, you will change your food habits while changing your weight. The trouble with "dieting" is to reduce it as soon as you go off the diet you start right in to regain the lost pounds. You'll stay slim naturally as long as you build your menus around the essential protective food, and keep your calories intake down to the 1,500 to 1,800 per day which you actually need. It's the safe dietary plan of "eat what you need first, then eat what you please with in your calorie limit."

And don't lose sight of the fact that regular exercise is very important in permanent slimness. If well-toned muscles are much less susceptible to fatty deposits.

And if you have to work a bit to keep slim, just be glad you are not a movie star—who has a hard time keeping slim.

What To Do

A friend of mine is coming soon to stay with me. I am invited out to a good deal. Should I ask to have her included in all the invitations? Should I stay at home if she is not included? I do not know what I should do and, of course, want to do the right thing. Thank you.

Answer—If you are invited to a picnic or a dancing party where one more or less people make little difference, I should ask to have my friend included. But if you have a ready-made invitation for a dinner party before you knew she was coming I should go, explaining to her that it was a previous engagement and tell her that you are sorry to leave her. However, if I were invited out to dinner while she was visiting me and could not provide for her amusement that evening, I would refuse. It is not always easy to find an extra man for an unexpected guest and so I should not suggest trying to include her in a dinner party unless I knew the people giving it as well that they could say "no" if they had to.

NEW YORK, July 31.—Cincinnati Reds routed New York Giants 6-3 yesterday to stop a backslide of two straight games. Neither the Reds nor the Giants liked the umpiring to that inning and Coach Jimmy Wilson of the champions and relief pitcher Walter Johnson of the Giants were sent to the showers for saying so.

This game was Derringer's 15th win of the season.

RULED AFTER HE WAS DEAD: King Koko, of Conde, French Congo, ruled his country for three years after he died. A six-foot square coffin was built for him on wheels to enable the king to move about. It was provided with bananas, sweet potatoes, peanuts and money to enable him to enable him to move about. The three years of grace was given him to enable him to make up his mind whether he would prefer to stay dead or to return to life—an ability which the king of all mortals was believed to possess. His embalmed head was held above board through an opening in the coffin, through which the dead king could survey the country he ruled. Apparently the king was determined to stay dead, because after a last futile appeal, his successor finally mounted the throne and placed his predecessor's head in his hands.

Fast Times Recorded At Pool in West End

WITH three new official provincial records set and a fourth mark bettered, the city championship swim gala staged last night by the West End Swimming Club was an unqualified success. The meet was held at the 119 street pool and the big crowd was not backward in letting the contestants know just how things were going. There were cheers for favorites and boos for the opposition.

Beryl Scumle of the West End club set a new provincial record of 23.3 in the first heat of the junior 50 yards freestyle swim, winning only by inches over Anna Ware of the South Side club. In the 100 yards medley for the Little Cup, Bob Matheson winner of the mile at Sylvan Lake last Saturday, slipped two seconds from his Alberta mark, doing the distance in 2:02. Joan McArthur, of the East End club and who won the half mile at Sylvan Lake, set up a new mark of 1:24.5 in taking the Simcoe Cup for the 100 yards backstroke.

A new record was actually made in the men's relay of 1:40.4, but it will not count as the club as Bob Matheson started just before the signal. The standing mark is also seconds slower than the time made last night.

Bob Matheson won the National Club Relay for the men's 100 yards freestyle, over his brother Doug and Bernie Clarke of the West End club. The relay was an exhibition with five contestants entering and the finish was very close with Dave Matheson on every stroke on the final lap.

In the first event for girls, 10 and under there were six entries, four from the East End pool and two each from the other clubs. Beryl Scumle, of the West End club, won the race in 1:24.5, a new mark for the club. The final was almost a dead heat between the two. The final was also close. Anna Ware turned point first only to be overtaken by Beryl on the home stretch.

Beryl Scumle of the South Side club took the North Western 100 yards freestyle, doing 1:40.4, a new mark for the club. The final was almost a dead heat between the two. The final was also close. Anna Ware turned point first only to be overtaken by Beryl on the home stretch.

Seven entries in the junior girls 50 yards freestyle made it necessary to have two heats. It was in the first that Beryl Scumle broke the provincial record and she was hard pressed by Anna Ware of the West End club. EAST INDIAN IS EXECUTED FOR SLAYING

By HOMER JENKS
British Indian Press Exclusive Cable
To The Edmonton Bulletin
LONDON, July 31.—Udham Singh, 37-year-old East Indian, was executed today for the murder of Sir Michael O'Dwyer, who was Lieutenant-Governor of Punjab when the "Massacre of Amritsar" occurred 21 years ago.

Singh was hanged at Pentonville prison after he had unsuccessfully appealed his death sentence. When he was convicted he vehemently protested his innocence, claiming the killing was accidental.

On March 13 at Craton Hall during a meeting under the auspices of the East Indian Association and the Royal Central Asian Society, to discuss Indian affairs, Singh forced his way to the speakers' platform and fired six shots, two of which entered Sir Michael's heart. He was captured attempting to escape. Sir Michael had opposed Indian autonomy during his career in the civil service. The Amritsar massacre occurred April 13, 1919, when troops fired on 5,000 rioters. Sir Michael had approved Gen. Reginald E. H. Dyer's order to fire. Later he was under investigation and resigned.

HAYES AGAIN GRIT NOMINEE IN SASKATOON

SASKATOON, July 31.—M. P. Hayes, defeated by the late Rev. W. G. Brown in the federal by-election here last December, was again chosen Tuesday by Liberals for the Saskatoon city by-election to be held here Aug. 19.

Mr. Hayes, in defeating Sid W. Johns, secretary-manager of the Saskatoon United Reform movement, became the fourth candidate in the field for the seat held twice by Mr. Brown of the United Reform movement. Mayor Carl Niderout, the Liberal candidate in the general election March 26, refused to allow his name to go before this convention. Monday night Miss Agnes Macphail, former member of parliament for Grey-Bruce, accepted the United Reform movement candidature.

C.C.C. CHAIRMAN ASKS DELAY ON INSURANCE BILL

OTTAWA, July 31.—The Unemployment Insurance Bill passed by the Commons came up for consideration before the Senate Commerce and Banking Committee last night.

After a brief statement on the bill by Gerald Brown, representing the Department of Labor, Norman J. Dawes, Montreal, chairman of the executive sub-committee of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, asked delay in the matter of pushing the legislation in order to give more time for investigation. He made similar representations before the Commons committee which considered the bill.

Asked by government leader Dandurand whether he had anything more to say than he had already told the Committee of the Commons, Mr. Dawes said he had not.

At the instance of Senator F. B. Black (Lib., New Brunswick) he then read a brief which he said had been rewritten from the brief presented to the Commons Committee.

DUFF COOPER'S "SNOOPERS" ARE IN SPOTLIGHT

LONDON, July 31.—Cooper's "Snoopers," named for Alfred Duff Cooper, minister of information, is the description given by The Daily Herald today to 30 "experts" from the National Institute of economic and social research, who are conducting a moral and social survey of the people of Britain.

The newspaper, however, bitterly assails the practice which they picture as "Cooper Snoopers on a pub crawl" and claims that "they (the snoopers) are going to listen in on your conversation in public houses and cross-examine you on your doorstep."

Other papers previously have pictured the work as comparable to that of the Gestapo.
